TRACK RATING

THE TATA TIAGO isn't the first car you think of when you think "speed". This updated JTP, however, is another kettle of fish. Yes, the suspension should have been lowered a bit more, and Narain felt that some flat spots in the turbo engine's power delivery could have been ironed out too, but just look at the time it has posted. "I was surprised. It's quite fast on the track and sits nicely between the Baleno RS and the VW Polo GT TSI in terms of lap times, which is very good at this price." Narain even liked the way it handled. "It's sporty, there's very little understeer. It's very neutral and the engine pulls well where it matters." Top speed on the track, for example, was only 3kph down on Baleno RS. "I even like the sporty touches on the inside. I hope we see more JTP products in the future."

THE LEADER BOARD ONE DRIVER,

PORSCHE 911 GT3 RS (991.2)

Fastest production car, again; also recorded highest top speed - 205.96kph.

HYUNDAI KONA ELECTRIC

All-electric family SUV was the dark horse upsetting quite a few hot hatches.

JA MOTORSPORT INDE 2.0

Continues its reign as the fastest car to lap the MMRT during our track day.
